

Liberty art fabrics
 Liberty's Art Fabrics Design Studio has hooked up with a selection of children's book illustrators including Reuben Kelly of 'Mr Benn' fame (pictured), Sally Haysom and Quentin Blake, to create its 50 new spring/summer designs. £19.95 per metre. www.liberty.co.uk

Mini Moderns wallpaper

We've fallen for the retro 'Whitby' range by quirky Brit interiors label Mini Moderns. The brand's designers, Keith Stephenson and Mark Hampshire, who hail from up north but are now based in Brighton, were inspired by 1950s lino cuts. Whitby wallpaper, £45 per roll. Folk
 The refreshingly simple London label, designed by Cathal McAteer, celebrates its tenth birthday this year. Its spring/summer collection is now in store at Folk's Lamb's Conduit Street flagship and Dray Walk boutique. www.folkclothing.com

Cléo Ferin icon scarves

Wear your favourite style icon – Beyoncé, Grace Jones or Elizabeth Taylor, say – around your neck in the form of a natty silk scarf by Cléo Ferin. £65. www.tattydevine.com

A Sauvage pop-up shop
 Dapper, leftfield label A Sauvage will be popping up at The Shop at Bluebird this week with a selection of summery chinos, easy tailored pieces and printed T-shirts from £85. Until May 31. www.asauvage.com

Cosmetic Skin Clinic
 Curious but nervous about Botox, dermal fillers or thread vein removal? We recommend a consultation with super-friendly Doctor Tracy Mountford (pictured) and her team at Harley Street's Cosmetic Skin Clinic, who promote a natural, understated look. From £90. The style agenda
 Grace Jones print scarves, Liberty art fabrics and A Sauvage's pop-up shop

Private White VC pop-up shop
 Brit menswear label Private White VC has just opened a pop-up shop at 47 Lamb's Conduit Street. Designed by former head of Dunhill menswear Nick Ashley, the range includes lightweight summer trench coats, Steve McQueen-style bomber jackets and parkas. Until May 31.
